LID PARTLY UP
FOR AUSTRIANS.

Restrictions not so Severe as with Germans.

Federal Authorities will not Molest Loyalists.

Drastic Regulations Apply in Treason Cases Only.

The proclamation of President Wilson in relation to the restrictions placed upon Austrians by the declaration of war will give the local Federal officials much less new work than did the passage of the resolution declaring that a state of war existed between the United States and the imperial government of Germany.

Austrian subjects will not be restricted to some of activity as have been the Germans, and the only bar to their going freely about is the order received yesterday by Acting United States District Attorney O'Connor, from Atty.-Gen. Thomas W. Gregory, that Austrians are not to be allowed either to enter or leave the country during the war. If they indulge in pro-German, or rather un-American, propaganda, they will be liable to internment, the same as have the Germans, but the action of the government makes them free to go as they please so long as they do not become actively allied with the enemies of this country.

While there is nothing to be given out officially as to the reason for the difference in treatment of Austrians as compared with the Germans, who were compelled to register if they lived within a half-mile of any fort, dock, munitions plant or establishment used in the manufacture of goods used in the conduct of the war, and were otherwise bound around by restrictions that do not appear in the instructions from Washington, it is the general view that the difference is due to two dominant reasons.

First, there are hundreds of thousands of Austrians engaged in the shipyards all over the country and in other enterprises turning out war material. It is not desired that they be harassed and driven from such employment. They are needed.

Second, that nine-tenths of the Austrians in this country have no more love for either the Kaiser or the government ruled by King Charles than the average American. There is no more cosmopolitan people in the world than those living in what is known as the Austro-Hungarian empire. Many of them have advanced ideas of freedom and democracy.

The feeling among many of these classes of Austrians was indicated a few days ago, when a representative body called upon Acting United States District Attorney J. Robert O'Connor and Collector Elliott and assured them that they were loyal to the United States. An omnibus order of President Wilson placing these loyal people under the ban would not be justifiable, it is believed. These same Austrians sent a telegram to President Wilson congratulating him upon his utterance before Congress that war should be declared against Austria-Hungary.

NO CITY WORK

Board of Public Works Takes Steps to Prevent Damage to Property.

Another blow was given enemy aliens in Los Angeles yesterday to prevent their inflicting damage on private and public property. The latest order prohibits them from taking out permits for plumbing, installations of sewer connections and other public service work permitting them to enter private and public buildings. The order is in effect for the duration of the war.

The Board of Public Works a few days ago took steps to prevent enemy aliens bidding for public work. Yesterday it supplemented this action by instructing Chief Building Inspector Backus not to issue plumbing or house connection sewer permits to German, Austrian and Bulgarian contractors.

Under the act of October 3 any person violating these orders, if found guilty, will be subject to a fine of $10,000, or to imprisonment for not more than ten years, and the letter, writing or other communication is subject to forfeiture and seizure.

All persons arriving in the United States from any foreign country, except persons in the service of the United States, or of the government of any nation, other than Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey, will be required to declare to the customs officers, in addition to the usual customs declaration, any letter, writing or other tangible form of communication, carried on their persons, or in their baggage, or otherwise brought with them or under their control.

Customs officers will require all persons departing from the United States, with the above exceptions, to declare any letter, writing or other tangible form of communication carried on their persons. They will also search the clothing and baggage of all persons departing from the United States, with the above exceptions, for any such letter or communication. If upon examination it is found that the letters or other communications are not to injure the United States or any of its allies, the customs officers may grant a license therefor, upon the postage stamps being affixed thereto that will be required if sent in the regular course of the mail. If the letter is intended for the benefit of the enemy and a license has not been issued by the War Trade Board, the Collector of Customs will take possession of the same. If the collector finds that the letter or writing is intended to advance the interests of the enemies of the Allies he will seize the same and detain the person in whose possession the communication is found.

In the search of persons or baggage going into Mexico, customs officers will use their discretion in relation to those persons who are known to them not to be disaffected toward the United States, and who frequently cross and recross the boundary line in the ordinary course of business.

Licenses to take or send from the United States any letter or writing other than parts of the country are given at headquarters, 217-219 Trust and Savings Building.

G. D. Marshall, field representative from Washington, will tell them how other parts of the country are given to conduct their war savings campaign.

"As a result of our conference," said Mr. Davidson yesterday, "we expect to complete an organization in Southern California that will be second to none in the United States. It is a big task which confronts us, but Californians have shown in the way they are taking hold of this patriotic work that, to a man, they are behind the government in this latest and most democratic plan for financing the war. The number of organizations of war savings associations being formed in Los Angeles and throughout Southern California is proof of the enthusiastic patriotism of Californians."

Motley H. Flint, chairman for Los Angeles county, has perfected his county organizations and the local chairmen, who will handle the campaign in their respective towns, have been appointed as follows:

Any Communications.

Exception Made in Cases of the Allied Nations.

All Must Submit to Search by Customs Officers.

A new and drastic feature of the strict embargo on communications between the United States and other countries, following the declaration of war upon Austria, was made public yesterday by Collector of Customs Elliott, following receipt of a wire from Washington.

Taking effect yesterday, it is unlawful for any person, other than a person in the service of the government of the United States, to send, or take out, or bring into, or attempt to send or take out, or bring into the United States, any letters or other writing of tangible form of communication, except in the regular course of the mails.

Under the act of October 3 any person violating these orders, if found guilty, will be subject to a fine of $10,000, or to imprisonment for not more than ten years, and the letter, writing or other communication is subject to forfeiture and seizure.

DEPLORES CRITICISM OF RED CROSS WORK.

REPRESENTATIVE BUSINESS GATHER AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LUNCHEON.

LONG BEACH, Dec. 13.—Deploping the recent attacks made on the Red Cross in this city and expressing regret that "any man should have given utterance to any remarks blemishing the work of that organization," S. L. Weaver, twice president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce delivered an address of a patriotic nature at the final Chamber of Commerce luncheon for 1917 here today. Mr. Weaver's sentiment in respect to the criticism of the Red Cross was heartily applauded by the 200 representative business and professional men in attendance at the banquet.

Mr. Weaver's address was one of the most forceful and interesting that has been given before functions of the Chamber of Commerce since 1917. "I came in response to the invitation of your secretary," said Mr. Weaver, "and was asked to go down to the fastest growing city in the United States and tell you how to do it, and come back and tell you the secret."

Attorney George Hart was chairman of today's luncheon, which was announced as the last event of the kind for the year.

Falkenhayn, although he says no charge was placed against him, said today he thought he was arrested on suspicion of knowing something of the finding of a cache of dynamite near the plant of the shipbuilding concern. He said he proved his innocence, however, and was only held in the San Pedro City Jail a few hours.

McCulloch of the camp and was brought to Upland by Marshal J. D. Sawyer. The youthful offenders are scheduled to appear before Judge George R. Crane. The class numbers over eight.

DANCING STOPS AT MIDNIGHT.

Eight Fantastic Cases on the Witches Hour of Twelve.

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 13.—One may trip the light fantastic in this city's one cafe where liquor is sold tomorrow night for the last time. At midnight the ordinance that prohibits dancing in such cafes goes into effect. The ordinance which was voted in the election December 4, was believed by many to be effective only on and after January 1, when the "bone dry" ordinance, which was carried at the same election, goes in force, if the writ of review in the Superior Court tomorrow, which was asked by the liquor men, discloses no illegality in the initiative petition by which the "bone dry" question was put on the ballot. There is only one cafe, the Breakers, where dancing is now indulged in, and its proprietors have notified Mayor S. L. Berkley that they would strictly comply with the provisions of the new ordinance.

"CHRISTMAS CHILD." Two-month-old Foundling Brightens Lives of Aged Women. [LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.] SANTA MONICA, Dec. 13.—A systematic attempt to trace the parentage of the little girl babe, 3 months old, poorly nourished and scantily clad, that was left in the hallway of the fashionable Parker apartments on the Ocean Front, is being made today by Chief P. B. Ferguson of the Santa Monica police.

The child is now in the care of Mrs. Alice G. Howell of the Beach Sanatorium, who calls the baby her Christmas child, and declares that she would like to keep the tiny waif. The baby is a veritable beam of light in this institution, which is a home for aged women. The baby have found a new interest in life now in amusing their unexpected guest.

"Until yesterday my youngest baby was 78 years old," said Nurse Howell today, "so my Christmas babe is quite a contrast."

HOLIDAYS ARE MEATLESS DAYS.

Must Eat Turkey or Game on Christmas and New Year.

Ruling Fails to Dismay People in Bountiful Southland.

Many Substitutes at Slight Cost are Provided.

The Food Administration's meatless day proclamation has overtaken Christmas and New Year's, because both holidays fall upon Tuesday, but Southern California is not in the least disturbed by the announcement that it cannot have suckling pig, roast lamb, barbecued beef and other butcher-shop delicacies for her midwinter holiday dinners.

The Southern California feeling of content is due to the fact that the horn of plenty is brimming full and if the people are not able to dine they can turn to another, because this fruitful land produces almost everything that man could wish for in the way of food stuffs.

There is almost no limit to the variety of green and dried fruits and vegetables to be found in the Los Angeles market at holiday time. The Food Administrator says that beef, mutton and pork cannot be eaten on Christmas and New Year's, but who doesn't prefer San Fernando Valley roast goose or Imperial Valley turkey at 40 cents a pound? Domestic duck sells at 37 cents a pound, fat hens are selling at 40 cents, broilers at 50 cents, fliers at 40 cents a pound, and squabs are worth 30 cents each. Rabbits are available at 50 cents each. Wild ducks from Los Angeles county lowlands are worth from 45 to 55 cents to 11 and 12.50 each.

The Pacific Ocean provides Southern California with a wonderful selection of sea food at reasonable prices. Lobster sells at 25 cents a pound, crabs are 25 cents apiece, oysters are 30 cents a dozen and shrimp meat is 60 cents a pound. Fish by the pound is retelling as follows: Salmon, 25 cents; barracuda, 25 cents; mackerel, 15 cents; halibut, 25 cents; sand dabs, 15 cents; fillet of sole, 25 cents; catfish, 10 cents; smelt, 15 cents; bass, 25 cents; striped bass, 25 cents; yellowtail, 18 cents.

Heading the list of fruits are Antelope Valley pears at three pounds for 25 cents, Watsonville Belleflower apples, six pounds for 25 cents, Duarte avocados at 25 cents each, Mexico dates and squabs are half pound, San Jose dried figs at 25 cents a pound, San Dimas oranges are selling at 40, 45 and 50 cents a dozen, Redlands grapefruit are four for 25 cents and Whittier lemons are 25 cents a dozen. Sacramento Valley almonds are 30 cents a pound, and Orange county English walnuts are from 25 to 35 cents a pound.

MANT VEGETABLES.
The vegetable list is almost unlimited. Southern California produces greenstuff for the table all the year round, and the array of holiday dinner vegetables is splendid. Fresh rhubarb is only 5 cents a pound, Imperial Valley tomatoes are 10 cents a pound, Santa Clara Valley celery ranges from 10 to 15 cents a bunch, Huntington Bech and Fullerton lettuce is two heads for 5 cents, Compton cauliflower runs from 10 to 20 cents a head, Garden Grove bell peppers are 10 cents a pound, Japanese squashes from the San Fernando Valley are selling at two pounds for 15 cents, chrysanthemums are 15 cents a bunch, and Santa Clara Valley dried prunes are from 15 to 17 cents a pound.

FORGORY CHARGED.
M. S. Thomas was locked up in the County Jail yesterday after being arrested by Constable Woodbury on a charge of forgery. It is alleged that he forged the name of Lora Secies to a check for $210 and then had it cashed by Robert M. Bryden, a harness dealer.

LIVING COST LOWERS.
In a great many instances the price of living is lower than it was a year ago—for instance potatoes and onions. California produces everything that man or beast requires for sustenance. The State could be cut off from all the rest of the world and yet the people would not want for necessities of life. Southern California fills her own market basket. Somewhere in the State, garden crops are growing and maturing every month in the year. Southern California produces her own apples and artichokes, her own beans and bacon, her own chrysanthemums and cauliflower, her own ducks and dates, her own endives and radishes, her own satsumas and sand dabs, her own lettuce and lemons, her own peas and potatoes.

There is practically no limit to the things grown in the sunny Southland. Every hill and valley furnished some particular thing to fill the great cornucopia of plenty. There isn't a county that doesn't share its share in feeding the multitudes. The matter of getting along without beef, mutton and pork for Christmas and New Year dinners is not a hardship under such conditions. It is merely a matter of substituting great natural resources in a land of great productivity.

INJURED WOMAN DANCED, SMOKED.

CLAIM FOR BIG DAMAGES FOR ACCIDENT IS CUT DOWN BY THE JURY.

A jury in Judge Taff's court yesterday returned a verdict of $500 damages in the case of Mrs. Ellen T. Smith against the Los Angeles Railway Corporation. In the absence of Judge Taff, the verdict was received by Judge Myers. The suit was for $25,000. The corporation admitted liability, Mrs. Smith having been injured in a collision, but Attorney Sterry was able to produce numerous witnesses who had been with Mrs. Smith and observed her after the accident, tending to show that she was not seriously hurt.

Mrs. Smith alleged that her eyes were affected by the accident and that she had received a nervous shock. Witnesses testified that she had gone to Yuma, where she had bathed, danced and ridden the roller coaster. They also saw her at Watts, where they said she danced and smoked cigarettes. In fact, after a strenuous time, returning home early in the morning, two of her companions confessed they were "all in" and refused to accompany her on another trip.

The defense attorneys charged that the corporation persuaded their client to indulge in these strenuous amusements. They asserted that she had not smoked cigarettes until in the other amusements, but was a "home body."

WOMAN RELEASED ON MURDER CHARGE.

After being in jail for nearly two months, Maria Flores yesterday was liberated by an order of Judge McCormick. The woman was suspected of slaying Antonio Menor on the night of September 20. Deputy District Attorney Jones informed the court that an investigation showed that the murder was committed by another person.

FORGORY CHARGED.
M. S. Thomas was locked up in the County Jail yesterday after being arrested by Constable Woodbury on a charge of forgery. It is alleged that he forged the name of Lora Secies to a check for $210 and then had it cashed by Robert M. Bryden, a harness dealer.

In a great many instances the price of living is lower than it was a year ago—for instance potatoes and onions. California produces everything that man or beast requires for sustenance. The State could be cut off from all the rest of the world and yet the people would not want for necessities of life. Southern California fills her own market basket. Somewhere in the State, garden crops are growing and maturing every month in the year. Southern California produces her own apples and artichokes, her own beans and bacon, her own chrysanthemums and cauliflower, her own ducks and dates, her own endives and radishes, her own satsumas and sand dabs, her own lettuce and lemons, her own peas and potatoes.

There is practically no limit to the things grown in the sunny Southland. Every hill and valley furnished some particular thing to fill the great cornucopia of plenty. There isn't a county that doesn't share its share in feeding the multitudes. The matter of getting along without beef, mutton and pork for Christmas and New Year dinners is not a hardship under such conditions. It is merely a matter of substituting great natural resources in a land of great productivity.

The Herald assigns as a reason for this publication that since the United States entered the war the activities of German alien enemies in New York City have been most pronounced. The Times is glad to note that since far conditions in Los Angeles have not called for a similar publication here. With few exceptions the Americanized Germans in this city have been loyal to their obligations to their adopted country.

ria by President Wilson indicates that the limitations placed upon Germans some months ago will not be used as against the subjects of King Charles. They will not be required to register and will be allowed to live and work in many zones barred to the Germans. The reason for discrimination is not apparent, but there must be a good one for separating the sheep from the goats.

Further work will be accomplished by a corps of ten district home demonstration agents, who will consist of women exclusively and who will travel among all the rural sections of the state, visiting the homes of the farmers, wives and daughters. Conservation and substitution will be the two principles advocated by these women.

The Missouri Senator had no reply to that. There is no reply to that. Even an ingenious and plausible slacker United States Senator cannot on the spur of the moment invent a reply to the proposition supporting the government—per's Weekly.

Spirited Away Again Lest Mob Avenge Boy's Slaying.

Edward S. Keyes (above) and Leonard Herwick, the murdered boy.

KEYES WILL PLEAD INSANITY AS DEFENSE FOR BUTCHERY OF BOY.

EDWARD S. KEYES, 27 years old, will plead insanity when he is taken to Santa Ana on the 17th inst. for his preliminary hearing, charged with the brutal murder of Leonard "Lil" Roy Herwick, 16-year-old son of J. F. Herwick, of Santa Ana, according to the announcement made yesterday by M. J. Flinn, who, with Hugh Carpenter, is acting as Keyes's attorney.

Early yesterday morning Keyes was spirited away from Santa Ana, and brought to Los Angeles on account of the high feeling against him in Santa Ana. He was coolly indifferent as he sat in his cell in the County Jail here and heard the fury that is raging in the Orange county seat over the butchery of the little boy.

When told that he stood a good chance of being lynched by a mob his eyes narrowed, he said, and he replied, "What's the difference? I've got to die sometime, haven't I?"

REPUTATION CONFESSED. Keyes, it is asserted, will repudiate the confession of the crime he made to Deputy Sheriff Wright and Nolan and Sheriff Jackson of Orange county shortly after his arrest last week. He now says that he did not assault the Herwick boy, and denies having murdered him.

Following his arrest, the officers say, Keyes told them how he attacked the little boy, assaulted him and then killed him. He is alleged to have said that he hacked his head off with a pocket knife, and after he threw the body into the Delhi drainage ditch, three miles south of Santa Ana, he carried the head a mile north and placed it under a railroad bridge.

Sheriff Jackson found the body, and together with his deputies searched for the head for two days. After Keyes was brought to Los Angeles he is said to have told Deputy Sheriff Wright where he hid the head. Sheriff Jackson sent his men to the spot named, and the head was found.

When this was recounted to Keyes yesterday, his face assumed a sardonic look, and he considered the problem for several minutes before replying.

"See my lawyer," he finally said with a shrill laugh.

"Who is your lawyer?" he was asked.

"I won't tell," was the reply.

HIS RECORD. Keyes was sent to San Quentin on September 18, 1912, to serve seven years following a conviction on a charge similar to the present one. At that time he was living with his mother, Mrs. Mattie De Turk, the "Lil" Herwick, in Vernon. He accepted a newspaper at Seventh and San Pedro streets, according to the evidence at his trial, and asked the way to deliver a note at a negro woman's house on the east side of the Los Angeles River.

Keyes, it was shown, accompanied the boy, and walked with him across the river bed. At this point he attacked the lad, and after accomplishing his purpose, he gashed him with a pocket knife.

The lad was left for dead, but recovered, and later identified Keyes by picking him out of a crowd.

WOMEN FREE HIM. After Keyes had served three of his seven years, his mother interested a number of Santa Ana and Los Angeles club and society women to ask a pardon for her boy. It was stated by the officers at that time that the release of Keyes would mean the life of an innocent boy before many years had elapsed. But the pressure brought by the society women accomplished the purpose, and Keyes was paroled on March 1, 1915. He was arrested immediately after on the charge of attacking a lad on the highway, and after assaulting the boy he was prevented from killing him by the quick action of a companion of Keyes. He was released on a "draw" bond, and immediately jumped his bond.

On November 26, last, he was re-arrested on the charge of attempted robbery at Norwalk. But inasmuch as there was no complaint filed, he was released. It was at this time that his mother was shot by a deputy sheriff, who was firing at Keyes. Keyes, it is alleged, tried to burglarize a store and was speeding away in his automobile when the deputy fired. He was arrested shortly afterward at his chicken farm at Newport Beach, where he was dressing his mother's wounds. Mrs. De Turk was taken to the County Hospital.

ANOTHER KILLING. In less than two weeks Keyes was re-arrested on the charge of murdering the Herwick lad. The first murder charge put against him was in 1910, when he was tried for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Dan Todd. Keyes was fighting with his mother over money when Todd interfered. Keyes opened up and shot the deputy down, killing him instantly. He alleged the murder was due to the accidental discharging of his revolver while wrestling with his mother. Judge Summerfield discharged the case on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

The Herwick boy was selling papers in Santa Ana, when, according to Keyes's alleged confession, Keyes invited him to go riding in an automobile. Keyes used an old machine to collect garbage, and the lad gladly accepted the invitation. Keyes, in his confession to Sheriff Jackson and Deputies Wright and Nolan, said he drove to Anaheim, where he purchased a quart of whiskey. He then took the boy to a hotel on the White City chicken ranch at Newport Beach, where he lived, and, he asserted, piled the boy with liquor. Keyes then admitted that he assaulted the lad, and after accomplishing his purpose, he choked him to death.

HOSPITAL NEEDS HELP. Barlow Sanatorium has Small Surplus to Start Year, Report States.

The fourteenth annual report of the Barlow Sanatorium, just issued, reflects the raising of food, fuel and other articles of general use everywhere. The average cost a patient per week at the sanatorium during the last year is given as $10.94, compared with $9.45 for the year previous.

The financial report shows a surplus of only $55.94 towards the current expenses of the coming year, whereas in former years there have been surpluses of from $1000 to $1500. "This," the report says, "was not due to the increased number of patients cared for, as much as the fact that our donations have fallen off largely the past two years, and several regular annual subscribers have stopped their donations."

The report cites as present needs of the sanatorium a cottage for nurses, a chapel, a library for patients, a visible typewriter and additional tools for the workshop.

During the fourteen years of existence of the sanatorium a total of 947 cases have been treated and cared for, of which 510 were men.

"GET-TOGETHER" BANQUET. Employees of the Wetherby-Kayser Shoe Company and the principal of the firm had a "get-together" dinner Wednesday night at Christopher's. The event was the regular annual gathering, but the special occasion was the celebration of the opening of the firm's new store at No. 418 West Seventh street. Short talks were made by members of the firm and department managers. A guest of honor was Elliott Phillips, former employee, now in the army, who was given leave from Camp Kearney to attend the banquet.

CITY MEN TO HEAR BISHOP.

New Prelate will Preside at Luncheon Today.

Professional and Commercial Folk are Invited.

Start of Big Drive for K. of C. War Work Fund.

The first public appearance of Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell in other than an ecclesiastical function in Los Angeles since he became the bishop of the diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles will occur today. He will preside at a luncheon to be given at the Alexandria, to which invitations have been issued to about 150 commercial and professional men of Los Angeles. The list is a very comprehensive one, and includes men of all creeds.

The general purpose of this luncheon is that Bishop Cantwell may have the opportunity, as soon as possible after being installed in his new work, to meet men of Los Angeles who do things, and that these men may have the opportunity to learn at first hand of the notable work that is being carried on by the Knights of Columbus war work in the training camps and in the fields for American young men who have gone under the national colors.

The luncheon really marks the beginning of the big drive whereby it is proposed to raise in Los Angeles $50,000 for this phase of war work, in conjunction with a simultaneous campaign for funds to be carried on in all of the large centers of the United States. The Times, from time to time, has given frequent mention of the splendid war work being performed through the Knights of Columbus, and further details of this work will be given at the luncheon today.
